SERVING THE SOUTHWEST . . . Dick Stevens and Jim Welsh have opened Towne and Country Realty at 1013 W. Carson St., across from the new Harbor Hospital. The owners also have offices in WALTERIA and LOMITA. Six salesmen work at the new Carson Street office which is dealing in general real estate.

Torrance Group to Attend Symposium on Contracting

The Torrance chapter of Professional Contracts Administrators will have the largest delegation at the association's second annual symposium.

More than 50 members of the Torrance chapter will meet April 26 in Anaheim, at the Disneyland Hotel, to hear Brig. Gen. Gerald F. Keeling speak.

The Professional Contracts Administrators establishes liaison with professional organizations in order to achieve an interchange of ideas relating to the Contracts Administration.

AMONG THE Torrance members who will make up the delegation are: R. T. Weindorf, 4915 Cadison St.; Ann C. Somol, 5340

North Students Enter Contest

Four North High School Journalism students qualified at the recent Pico-Rivera preliminaries to participate in the 12th annual Southern California National Assn. of Journalism Directors writing contest to be held at Santa Barbara, May 25.

North High representatives will be Candace Bell, Jim Breitenfeldt, William Johnson and John Rance.

YPF Breakfast Set for Easter

Members of the Young People's Fellowship at St. Andrew's Episcopal Church will sponsor its annual Easter sunrise breakfast at the church parish hall following sunrise services in the church which begin at 5:30 a.m. Sunday.

Doris Way; L. H. Sanderfer, 20542 Anza Ave.; R. D. Reinhardt, 2107 W. 230th Place; and E. R. Nelson, 20917 Avis Ave.

Among the Torrance Firms represented in the organization are:

Coleman Engineering Co., 3500 Torrance Blvd.; Houston Fearless Corp., Pacific Division, 24680 S. Crenshaw Blvd.; and Vickers, Inc., 3201 Lomita.

THE SYMPOSIUM on Government Contracts and Administration will open with an analysis of problems encountered in daily relationships in the area of sub-contract administrative procedures.

Also on the schedule are discussions on Certificate of Defective Pricing with Lt. Col. T. C. Huke, Staff Judge Advocate, United States Air Force, as moderator; and the Growing Profession of Contracts Administration with B. P. Dumars, director of contracts, North American Aviation, as speaker.

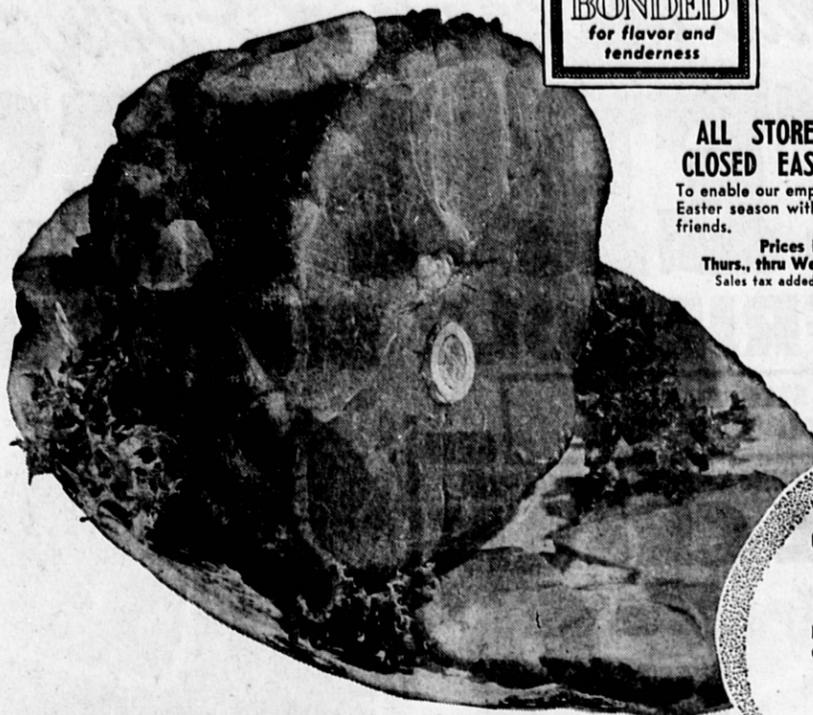

General Keeling, director of procurement, Air Force Systems Command, will speak on Air Force Systems Acquisition.

AFTERNOON SESSIONS in the day long symposium will have a lecture on The Management Proposal Can Make the Difference, by W. T. Alvis of General Dynamics; and Contracting, a New Method of Procurement? with J. D. Johnson of the University of California as moderator.

Panelists include J. J. Hurt, staff price analyst of Lockheed Missile and Space Co., and J. R. Stojanovich, comptroller, Ordinance Division of F.M.C.

Reservations to the symposium can be made through M. Goffman, P. O. Box 331, Woodland Hills, Calif.

Succulent slices of baked Ham or Turkey this Easter Sunday will taste even better with our new Fresh Pineapple Apricot Sauce, served at the table from its own fresh "bowl". To make the serving "bowl" cut the top from a fresh pineapple about 1 inch below the spike. Reserve top for later. To hollow out the fruit, cut around inside edge of the pineapple with a sharp knife, leaving a good half inch thickness as a wall so shell will keep its shape. Cut out large chunks and save for the sauce, hollowing out until inside is smooth. Cut the pineapple into small cubes. To make the sauce, simply combine 3/4 cup syrup from a small can of drained apricots and add 1/4 cup water. Heat. Mix together 1 tablespoon corn starch, 2 tablespoons sugar and 1/4 teaspoon cinnamon. Slowly add this to the apricot syrup, stirring until mixture thickens. Add 1/2 cup chopped apricot halves, 1 cup of the cubed pineapple, 1/4 cup raisins and 1/4 cup walnut pieces. Blend, then cool slightly. Pour the sauce into the hollowed out dry pineapple "bowl" and set the spiky top slightly ajar on the top of shell. Serve at table, ladling a heaping tablespoon over slices of Ham or Turkey.
